MILK FROM 9,146 COWS

THAT MANY ACTUALLY IN PRODUCTION IN THIS COUNTRY.

MUCH CREAM SHIPPED

Survey Shows Nearly 1,000,000 Pounds of Butter Is Made Elsewhere of Nodaway Fat.

The number of milk cows actually being milked in Nodaway County, exclusive of commercial dairies and Jackson township, and from which the owners are selling cream, is 9,146, according to a recent survey made by a committee appointed by the Nodaway County Farm Bureau.

It was found that 1,691 farmers were milking. Since there are about 3,500 farms in the county, approximately one-half of the farmers in the county are selling cream regularly, outside of Jackson township. Figures from Jackson township were not obtained. No survey was made there, as Ravenwood is at present building a creamery of its own.

According to the local survey in Jackson township there are 1,200 cows there, which would bring the total number of cows being milked for commercial cream production in the county up to 10,346. Crediting these cows with the state average in milk production would mean a yearly production of well over 30,000,000 pounds of saleable milk, or 1,200,000 pounds of butter fat. These figures undoubtedly represent very conservative estimates of the available supply of marketable dairy products available annually in the county.

Much Cream Shipped Out.

A further survey was made to determine the amount of butter fat actually shipped out of the county. Obviously it was impossible to secure shipments other than those by railroads, no means of checking the truck shipments being available. The total butter fat shipments by the railroads, exclusive of Ravenwood, figuring 22 pounds of butter fat in a 10-gallon can, 15 pounds in an 8 gallon can and 11 pounds in a 5 gallon can, was found to be 677,579 pounds or a little over 900,000 pounds of butter. It is therefore definitely established that nearly 1,000,000 pounds of butter each year are made out of Nodaway County cream in some other section.

Of the 1,691 farmers interviewed, 567 said they would increase their dairy herds if a suitable market were provided. This increase would add from 2,000 to 3,000 more dairy cows in the county, it was indicated.

The state report issued by the board of agriculture gave Nodaway County 14,330 dairy cows, but this figure included not only the cows being milked but also heifers and dry cows. This figure is thought to be accurate.

The survey shows how dairying has increased in Nodaway county and with the production as high as it it, it is expected that within several months some kind of plant will locate here.

The county was divided into four sections and the survey was taken by four men. These men were Fred Ager, George H. Meek, Mike Dougan and Fred Miller. They interviewed each farmer by personally calling on him.

DAWSON FILES AS CANDIDATE

CIRCUIT JUDGE TO SEEK RENOMINATION BY DEMOCRATS.

FIRST CHOSEN IN 1916

No Opopsition, Either for Nomination or Election, Evident So Far—Has Been Prosecutor.

Judge John M. Dawson announced this morning that he had filed declaration of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for judge of the circuit court of the fourth judicial district. Judge Dawson said he mailed his declaration yesterday noon to Charles U. Becker, secretary of state, at Jefferson City.

Judge Dawson will be seeking reelection for the third term to the judgeship of this district, which includes Nodaway, Atchison, Gentry and Worth counties. So far as is known, Judge Dawson will be unopposed for the nomination or for election at the November election.

Judge Dawson first was elected judge of this district in 1916 and took office January 1, 1917. He was reelected in 1922. He had acted as special judge during two court terms in this district in 1916 to assist Judge W. C. Ellison.

Judge Dawson was prosecuting attorney of Nodaway county for three terms, being elected in 1896, 1900 and 1906. He was a member of the law firm in Maryville of Cook, Cummins and Dawson, which was formed in 1910, but he withdrew from the firm when elected circuit judge.

Judge Dawson is a son of the late "Lafe" Dawson. He was born in Nodaway county, March 13, 1863. In 1885 Judge Dawson's father was appointed judge of the circuit court of Alaska by President Cleveland. Judge Dawson accompanied his father to Alaska and was first admitted to the practice of law there, where he had taken the office of deputy clerk of the circuit court.

He was admitted to the bar in Nodaway county by Judge Anthony. His first noteworthy case arose when he was prosecuting attorney for the first time, the murder case of the state against Hez Rasco, for the murder of Kate Baumli, which resulted in conviction.

On July 26, 1897, Judge Dawson was married to Viola Green and they have since made their home in Maryville.

Court Does Little; Grants Continuances

PERRIN LOAN FUND BEGUN

MEMORIAL TO FRIEND OF COLLEGE STUDENTS IS PROPOSED.

SEEK TO RAISE $500

Mrs. Mildred Kiser Daniels Takes Lead in Asking Small Contributions.

As a suitable means of perpetuating the memory of a woman who gave the most fruitful years of her life to serving hundreds of students at the State Teachers College here, alumni and students have launched a move to establish an Alice R. Perrin memorial student loan fund.

The movement had been widely discussed for several months, but it remained for Mrs. Mildred Kiser Daniels of Flat River, Mo., herself one of Mrs. Perrin's "girls" to take the initiative in launching the drive.

Mrs. Daniels, before her marriage to Ernest Daniels of this city, lived near Barnard and attended the College here. She was one of the scores of boy and girl students who found Perrin Hall the "next best place to home." Mr. Daniels now is an instructor in the Flat River schools.

15 Years Assistant Dean.

Mrs. Perrin, besides conducting the best known student rooming and boarding house, served for more than fifteen years as assistant dean of women at the College and was a staunch friend and kindly advisor to the entire student body.

Miss Hettie M. Anthony of the College faculty has been made treasurer of the proposed fund, and she already has received several contributions, the first being a $10 check from President Uel W. Lamkin.

Amounts from $1 upward are asked, with the hope of getting many small subscriptions rather than a few large ones. The goal, for the present at least, has been set at $500.

The letter which Mrs. Daniels is sending out follows:

"As a friend of the late Mrs. Perrin you have known of her love and service to humanity. This memory is a dear possession to all our hearts. Growing out of this love and highest regard for her there is a movement to establish, in the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College at Maryville, a student aid fund to be known as the Mrs. Perrin Student Loan Fund. Its purpose will be to carry on her never failing friendship and uplifting influence for those who seek to make the most of their lives.

Proud of Friendship.

"Many people, now scattered all over the land are proud to have been considered a friend of this unusual woman. However, it is possible to reach only a relatively small circle of her friends. Therefore, you would be assisting greatly if you would show this letter to others who would like to contribute.

"The committee in charge of the fund shall consist of the President of the College, Business Manager of the College and a representative of the Student Council, appointed by the president of the Council.

"Five hundred dollars is the goal. We are encouraging students who feel they could give but a dollar to contribute. Someone has well said that it would be better to have five hundred $1.00 subscriptions than to have five $100.00 subscriptions. Miss Hettie Anthony has consented to act as treasurer of the fund during the drive. All pledges should be sent directly to her at the College in Maryville. After the drive is completed an accounting will be made and each donor will receive a copy.

"Hoping that you will co-operate in making this a gift worthy to one who has meant so much to the college with which she was associated and the students with whom she came in contact, I am.

"Very Sincerely,
"Mildred Kiser Daniels,
"Flat River, Mo."

Wilbur Reports Cost of Marine Occupation

Upkeep in Nicaragua Has Amounted to $1,628,719—Twenty-one Marines Killed.

Washington, April 17.—The cost of marine occupation of Nicaragua has been $1,628,719, Secretary of Navy Wilbur reported to the Senate today in answer to the Blaine resolution calling for an accounting.

Twenty-one marines have been killed and forty-five wounded in Nicaragua, Wilbur added. The department has a record of 202 known dead Nicaraguans, including two women and a child.

The amount spent is computed as extra expense incurred over what it would cost to keep the troops here: $1,495,850 for marines; $78,817.94 transportation and $54,052 for air service.

SAYS SECRECY WAS ADVISED

U. S. NAVY OFFICER TESTIFIES IN SINCLAIR TRIAL.

BAIN STORY ATTACKED

Director of U. S. Mine Bureau Spent Seven Days on Sinclair Car, Government Shows.

Washington, April 17.—Capt. J. K. Robison, U. S. N., retired, testified in the Sinclair conspiracy trial today that he asked Secretary of Interior Fall in October, 1921, to keep secret all information regarding leasing of naval oil reserves.

The government attacked testimony of a major defense witness by showing that H. Foster Bain, mine bureau director who advised leasing of Teapot Dome, spent seven days on Sinclair's private car.

Brisk, abrupt questions by Prosecutor Owen J. Roberts elicited this from Bain, after Bain told the jury that he and others had advised Fall the naval reserve was in serious danger of being drained.

Roberts also forced Bain to admit he never told the Senate Teapot Dome committee what he testified for the defense today—that he and Fall considered leasing Teapot Dome to Gulf and Pure Oil companies but rejected them because it might embarrass Secretary of Treasury Mellon, of Gulf, and Vice-President Dawes, then budget director and a Pure Oil stockholder.

Standard Oil Not Considered.

Bain testified for the defense that Fall "threw aside" any suggestion that Standard Oil companies be invited to bid because their Standard Mid-West interests already had a "dominant position, if not a near monopoly," on Wyoming oil.

Roberts obtained an admission that when this conversation took place late in March, 1922, a week or two before Fall gave Sinclair the lease, Bain already knew that Sinclair had organized the Mammoth Oil Company especially to exploit the Teapot Dome reserve.

Bain said he was present at a conference late in 1921 at which Fall was told by J. K. Robison, then a rear admiral in charge of the Navy's oil reserves, that an oil field not connected with the coast by pipe lines would be of little use to the Navy in time of war.

Told of Drainage Danger.

Bain said A. W. Ambose, then oil techologist of the Interior Department, told Fall he thought at least the northern half of Teapot Dome was in danger of drainage from wells in the adjacent Salt Creek field. Defense lawyers attempted to get Bain to testify that Robison said at this conference that he personally favored leasing the reserve, but the Judge refused to let the witness tell this.

Bain testified that Fall at various times during the next few months told him of lease negotiations.

Bain said also that Fall told him in April 4—three days before the lease to Sinclair was signed—about the proposal of A. L. Beatty, Texas company official to lease the reserve.

The government offered Beatty's testimony last week in an effort to show that Fall tried to "freeze him out" as a bidder on Teapot Dome.

Fire Department to Standard Oil Station

For the second time today the fire department was called out at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The call was made by the Standard Oil filling station, Buchanan and West Fourth streets.

Attendants had been pumping out the tanks and had placed the sediment from the tanks in an open receptacle to the south of the filling station and set it on fire. The fire spread to the oil soaked gravel and to prevent further spread of the fire the fire department was called.

Mrs. T. L. Wilderman Leaves.

Mrs. T. L. Wilderman of Denver, Colo., who arrived here yesterday from Philadelphia, left this morning for her home.

FLOOD BILL "EXORBITANT"

COOLIDGE STRONGLY OPPOSED TO PRESENT MEASURE.

THE AIDED SHOULD PAY

Mississippi Valley Communities Ought to Help Defray Cost, He Notifies House.

Washington, April 17. — President Coolidge looks upon the flood control bill as it passed the Senate as the most "exorbitant" proposal during his Presidency and possible during the Nation's history, it was made known at the White House today.

The President is known to look with marked disfavor upon the vast expenditures called for by the bill, which in his opinion, may amount to $1,500,000,000.

The President's position was made known as the House was preparing to debate flood control. House leaders were trying to reach a compromise on most points of the measure, including the President's belief that Mississippi Valley communities should contribute in some way to the cost of flood control.

Mr. Coolidge was represented as demanding more thorough inquiry into the motives that prompted certain provisions of the flood control bill. He doubts if the Senate, in rushing passage of the measure, knew what the bill really meant. It was made clear that the President has been advised that owners of large land tracts along the Mississippi are boosting valuations anticipating government purchases or spillway indemnities.

Presented by Snell.

The administration's demand for local contributions was presented by Representative Snell, New York, chairman of the House rules committee.

"I am strongly in favor of local contributions," he declared. "The people that receive the benefit should pay a little bit more than anybody else."

He endorsed President Coolidge's recommendation for an economic commission to determine what local contributions can be made.

He declared local interests should furnish levee rights-of-way along the main river and the by-passes, or otherwise government purchase of this land would start a flood of lawsuits lasting for the next ten years.

The Jadwin engineering plan was criticized by Democratic floor leader Garrett, of Tennessee, who said "it would do nothing for Tennessee except bring injury upon the state."

U. S. Must Pay, Reid Declares.

Protection of Mississippi Valley residents from destructive floods will be impossible unless the federal government shoulders the whole expense, Chairman Reid of the Flood Control committee declared in opening House debate on the Jones-Reid bill.

He criticized requirement of local contributions, advocated by President Coolidge in some form.

"There is in the bill no provision for local contributions," Reid said. "There can be none if Congress intends to protect the lives of its citizens from these destructive floods.

"The elemental weakness of the present system, as disclosed by the investigations and reports made by the government agencies, as well as the extended hearings before the flood control committee, is that the dependence upon local participation has resulted in a weak and unfinished system of levees.

Predict Few Changes.

Because of failure of a binding agreement covering all disputed points between Republican leaders and chairman Reid of the House Flood Control committee, followers of the latter were predicting today that the measure will go through with few changes. They claimed support of practically the entire Democratic membership of the House.

General debate on the measure probably will last two or three days.

Republican leaders held a last minute conference just before the House took up the bill and decided to resume negotiations with flood control sponsors after the House adjourned today in an effort to reach a compromise agreement. Sitting in the conference were Speaker Longworth, floor Leader Tilson, Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee and Chairman Snell of the House rules committee.

Alleged Assailant of Co-Ed Sentenced

Des Moines, April 17. — Charles Brewster, of Perry, was sentenced to eighteen years in the state penitentiary today charged with assaulting Miriah Cossard, 18, Drake University co-ed.

Public Construction Measure Is Reported

Senate Committee Acts Favorably on Bill Designed to Relieve Economic Depression.

Washington, Apr. 17.—A favorable report on the Jones bill creating a $750,000,000 public construction fund for use during time of economic depression was ordered today by the Senate commerce committee.

The bill provides that the President shall have power to use the fund for building public works when during a three months period there is a 10 per cent drop below average construction operations in the three preceding years.

The measure is designed to prevent unemployment.

The committee also ordered a favorable report on the House public health bill which provides for reorganization of the federal public health department.

THE UNKNOWN DEAD BURIED

12 WEST PLAINS VICTIMS NEVER TO BE IDENTIFIED.

TO MAKE A SHRINE

Investigation of Dance Hall Blast Is Halted by Funerals.—Expert Says Gas Fumes.

West Plains, Mo., April 17.—Twelve graves, enough for the unidentified dead of West Plains' dance hall explosion that killed forty persons, will be filled here this afternoon.

Several hundred persons passed through the morgue here yesterday and viewed the bodies of the twelve unidentified blast victims. It was apparent the twelve never would be identified.

The burials today will be something more than private ceremonies. A union funeral service has been arranged. It will follow a public memorial service. Prayers will be offered by ministers from all churches here.

Monument to Mark Graves.

While the individual graves of the twelve unidentified will be unmarked plans have been made for the erection of a tall, granite monument on which will be chisled the names of those who perished in the blast and never were identified.

Flowers will be set out and trees planted over the spot of the community's shrine. Perpetual maintenance at community expense is planned.

Besides private funerals for six yesterday, there were memorial services at the high school for students who were killed.

Investigation by coroner's jury has been held up because members of the jury have been attending funerals.

Gas Fumes, Says Inspector.

West Plains, Mo., April 17.—The explosion which caused the death of forty persons and wrecked the Bond dance hall here Friday night was the result of gasoline fumes which had accumulated in the basement of the garage below the dance hall and were ignited, was the belief expressed by L. A. Kessberger, manager of the Missouri fire inspection bureau of the Springfield district.

Kessberger said it was his opinion the gas fumes went down, filled the basement, and exploded. He said a gallon of vaporized gasoline has the power of eighty pounds of dynamite, enough to cause a terrific explosion.

PRESENTATION OF AL'S NAME IS CERTAINTY

New York, Apr. 17.—Governor Alfred E. Smith was brought out formally today for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Former Lieut. Gov. George R. Lunn, of Schenectady, offered a resolution before a meeting of the New York state Democratic committee, saying that Smith's name would be presented to the convention at Houston and asking for the support of delegates.

Lunn said that after the election of President Harding a regime of corruption followed, which did not hesitate to lay unclean hands even on members of the President's cabinet. He said the Republicans were victorious in 1924 because the people could not believe the oil scandal charges.

Now, he added, conditions had changed. Lunn said that "the present control of the Republican party is being vigorously challenged by its own members."

"The devotion of Al Smith to his mother is one of the inspiring pages of his personal history," Lunn said. "When he first went to the legislature, a young vigilant, he sent his mother a picture postcard of the executive mansion, and humorously wrote on it that some day he might occupy that mansion. Twelve years later, when he was inaugurated as governor for the first time, his devoted mother was present, and she had with her that faded but treasured postcard."

TO LEAVE THE PLANE

GERMAN FLIERS WILL JOIN IRISH COMPANION.

CAN'T MAKE REPAIRS

The Bremen, According to Late Reports, Will Be Taken to Halifax Aboard Ship.

Quebec, April 17.—The two German aviators stranded in the isolation of Greenly Island soon will abandon their plane and rejoin their companion of the epic trans-Atlantic flight, according to latest dispatches today.

Commander James E. Fitzmaurice was expected to arrive here today with C. A. ("Duke") Schiller from Natashquan, which they left between 9 and 10 a. m.

The German plane Bremen, according to the latest advices, will be taken to Halifax from Greenly Island by the Canadian ice cutter Montcalm.

It appeared that after being isolated from civilization since Friday afternoon when they landed on ice-bound Greenley Island, the three fliers would meet in Montreal within a few days.

Should Have Arrived.

Fitzmaurice and Schiller should have arrived in Murray Bay already. It was thought they might have landed at Seven Islands, just as Schiller did when he flew to Greenly Island to assist the fliers.

The Montcalm, was reported bucking through the ice of the straits of Belle Isle and only about five miles from where the Bremen rests on Greenly Island.

At Montreal, the Junkers F-13, which flew from New York yesterday with Fraulein Herta Junkers, Edward Junkers and Fred Melchoir in the cabin, waits with spare parts and an additional fuel supply for the Bremen.

Fraulein Junkers was uncertain today whether the F-13 would remain at Montreal or continue farther north. They will make no attempt, however, to fly into Greenly Island.

Damage Worse Than Thought.

St. Johns, N. F., Apr. 17.—The trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen bumped and swayed dangerously for twenty yards over the rough ice field, where it landed on Greenly Island before coming to a stop, according to authentic advices received here.

Contrary to previous reports, which said that the plane landed on the frozen surface of a small lake or pond, today's advices indicated that the landing was made in a field covered with ice.

The undercarriage of the plane was damaged. The bottom of the fuselage was dented and the tips of the propeller were damaged.

From the foregoing dispatch detailing the extent of the damage to the Bremen it would appear that there is little foundation for reports that the remaining members of the plane's crew will fly her off Greenly Island. If the damage is as bad as the St. Johns advice indicate, several days may be required to make repairs.

Acknowledge Coolidge Message.

Washington, Apr. 17.—President Coolidge today received the following telegram from the Bremen crew at Greenly Island, via Point Armour:

"Deeply moved by your very kind message of congratulations. The German-Irish crew of German airplane Bremen hope to reach the great republic of U. S. A., very soon, when they will personally express their great appreciation of and thanks for your sympathetic interest in their work."

The message was signed, "Koehl, Fitzmaurice, Huenefeld."

Urges Abolition of Religious Marriage

Chicago, April 17.—Religious marriages would be abolished under a proposal submitted to the episcopal clergy of Chicago.

Suggesting that it would be more desirable for the church to bless only those unions which were sanctioned by the state, the Rev. F. R. Neely of Calvary church proposed that clergymen leave performance of the ceremonies to civil authorities.

Earthquake Is Felt in 3 Mexican States

Mexico City, April 17.—Three states—Puebla, Vera Cruz and Oaxaca—felt an earthquake last night. Worst damage occurred in the city of Oaxaca, where ten persons were killed by earth tremors a few weeks ago.

The government palace at Oaxaca is uninhabitable, dispatches received here today said.

In Puebla many persons spent the night in the streets, fearing their houses would crumble. The tremor in the Vera Cruz section was described as the most intense in years.

Hay Is Silent on Indorsement of Collet by Reed

Senator's Action Indicates He Has Not Forgotten Bitter 1922 Campaign.

(St. Louis Star)

That the bitter senatorial campaign of 1922 has not been forgotten by Senator James A. Reed is indicated by an indorsement of the senatorial campaign of James A. Collet of Salisbury by the senior senator. The indorsement was printed in the last issue of the Missouri Democrat, official organ of the Pendergast faction in Kansas City and means that the most powerful Democratic political machine in the state will go down the line for Collet and against Charles M. Hay, St. Louis candidate.

The Reed statement is taken to mean that he has rejected the overtures of Hay, leader of the party's dry element and opponent of Reed in the 1922 campaign. Observers of national issues say the fact that the party read Reed from its ranks in the old fight has had some ill effects upon his presidential aspirations and that, for this reason, if for no other, Reed still is bitter toward Hay.

In an effort to maintain harmony Hay has made eulogistic references to Reed in his campaign speeches and both he and Reed have made the statement: "There is something more important at issue in this campaign than a drink of whiskey or a schooner of beer."

Hay is in Kansas City today. Speaking of the Reed statement, by telephone to the Star, he said:

"I have nothing to say as to the Reed statement. I am submitting my candidacy to the voters of Missouri. I hope to get the majority of the Democrats in the primary and of the whole electorate in Missouri."

Hay said he will spend several days in Kansas City, but that he has held no conferences with leaders of the Pendergast faction there and that none are contemplated.

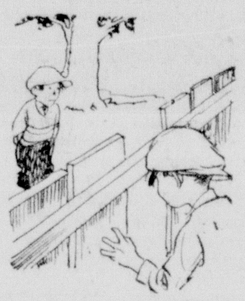

The espousal of the Collet candidacy may indicate Reed's intention to take an active part in the Missouri campaign. In the event he should decide to re-enter the senatorial race he has until June 8 to file declaration of his candidacy.

The statement may also have an effect upon the Republican Senatorial race which so far has "gone begging" among the aspirants.

Former Gov. Arthur M. Hyde, at present the most likely candidate, probably will give consideration to the situation presented with Reed actively opposing him in "wet" St. Louis. Reed's animosity to Hyde is of long standing and the effectiveness of his opposition was demonstrated, in St. Louis, during the last senatorial campaign. The situation would be further complicated, as far as Hyde is concerned, if Al Smith, a wet, should become the Democratic presidential nominee.

PACIFISTS TO BE ATTACKED

D. A. R. OFFICERS PREPARE TO QUELL ANY UPRISING.

BLACKLIST SUPPORTED

Speeches and Applause at Opening of National Congress Indicate Approval.

Washington, April 17.—Daughters of the American Revolution skillfully avoided an issue over the "blacklist" and other disputed matters at their annual business session here today.

The resolutions committee failed to report a resolution which Mrs. Helen Tufts Bailie, rebel Massachusetts member, indicated she would sponsor, attacking officials of the order for advising against so-called "radical" and "pacifist" speakers.

Only one reference was made to the dispute, and that was indirect. Mrs. William C. Story, past president-General, urged the members to support a larger merchant marine as a peace and national defense move. She said Congress should provide "adequate national defense."

Endorse Washington Celebration.

Resolutions were adopted endorsing celebration of Washington's 200th birthday anniversary in 1932; authorizing redemption of the order's outstanding bonds and reissuance at a lower interest rate; giving $500 to the national museum here and $200 for extension of the D. A. R. library.

It was announced that contributions today brought the total for building a D. A. R. auditorium here to more than $1,000,000 in pledges and $630,000 in cash. Alfred J. Brosseau, husband of the president general, gave $25,000, the largest single donation.

Washington, April 17.—National officers of the Daughters of the American Revolution were prepared today to denounce allegedly pacifist members if an attempt were made to oppose the Wilbur "big navy" program or to discuss the so-called D. A. R. speakers' "blacklist" on the floor of the Daughters' Congress.

Denies National Blacklist.

Mrs. Brosseau said there was no national "blacklist" in existence but that state officers had the right to advise individual chapters for and against various speakers although the chapters, she said, were not compelled to act upon the advice.

Springfield Mayor Has House Cleaning

Springfield, Mo., Apr. 17.—When Thomas H. Gideon took the oath of office as mayor here yesterday his first official act was to suspend twenty-one of the police force indefinitely.

The officials had opposed Gideon's campaign and he had promised to "clean house" in the police force if he was elected.

The men released from service included the chief of police, his assistant, the chief of detectives and A. R. Sampey who had been on the force 35 years.

'Sidewalks Stuff' Discarded by Al Smith of Today

Editor's Note: This, the eighth of a series of Presidential Campaign Portraits written for Democrat-Forum and Maryville Tribune and NEA Service by Robert Talley, is the first of four articles on Gov. Al Smith of New York. The second article on Governor Smith will appear tomorrow.

By ROBERT TALLEY
NEA Service Writer

Albany, N. Y., April 17.—There will be less of the "Sidewalks of New York" stuff when Al Smith's name is placed in nomination at the Democratic national convention at Houston, Tex., next June.

If any slangy individual shows up down there from the Bowery, sporting a checked suit, a loud vest and with a brown derby cocked over the tip of a long cigar protruding from the northwest corner of his mouth, he probably will be thrown out on his ear if he starts singing "East Side, West Side, All A-r-round de town—"

For this year the American public is going to be introduced to "the new Al Smith"—the man who has outgrown the environment of New York's East Side, where he once clerked in a fish market, and who has now "discarded the brown derby for the tuxedo in dress, speech and habit with a consequent addition of dignity and refinement that would befit a president."

Three main obstacles stand between Al Smith and the presidency, according to his friends. One is his religion, one is his anti-prohibition stand and the third is a sort of general impression that the former East Sider is an uncultured and unrefined social creature who wouldn't know how to act in the White House if he got there.

For his religion, Governor Smith has no apologies to make. The prohibition issue can be met from the platform. But already the campaign is under way to show Smith's social metamorphosis from the cocoon of the Bowery to butterfly chrysalis of the refined drawing room and thus prove his cultural eligibility for the White House.

In personal appearance, Smith's tailors have made him everything that could be asked in sartorial elegance, compatible with good taste. In his speeches, this self-made man who left school before he was 15 carefully guards his grammar. In his official appearances, he has never been guilty of any act that would reflect discredit on the dignity or decorum of his state.

Always, in his public appearances, Smith is on guard.

But what sort of a human being is Al Smith under the skin?

In his luxurious private office at the capitol here, I met the man who has been acclaimed and doubtless is—"the best governor that New York ever had." At any rate, he has been elected to that office four times.

"Hello!" he boomed in a voice that was almost a shout, as he grasped my hand with a grip like a lemon-squeezer. "Sit down!" he shouted.

I faced a man 55 years old, wearing horn-rimmed glasses, with graying hair parted in the middle, and a real smile. He wore a faultlessly-tailored brown suit, a bow tie of gleaming brown silk, an ordinary collar, a stiff-bosomed shirt with pearl studs, a gold signet ring on his right hand, one with a cloudy gray stone on his left hand and a pair of high brown shoes that, oddly enough, had enormously thick soles.

GOVERNOR ALFRED E. SMITH

One of the telephones on Governor Smith's desk rang and he jerked off the receiver. "Hello, hello, hello!" he yelled in a voice that must have carried throughout the capitol, and he carried on his conversation in the same tone.

While he was talking, I surveyed the governor's big, flattopped desk, bearing a collection of articles not unlike a museum. It is necessarily a big desk, for here's what it bore:

A statuette of a boy scout, a miniature bronze lion, a bronze bear, a small silver bull, three ink stands with flashily-colored pens protruding, a glass of ice water on a blotter, a bronze cast of a big peanut with two legs, a silver-rimmed picture of his wife and one of his sons, a 12-inch replica of the first railroad train in New York, several dozen unopened letters (Governor Smith opens his personal mail himself), a small marble elephant, several scribbled notations, two telephones, a desk lamp with pink silk shade, and two bronze book ends between which were these volumes: "Care and Treatment of the diseases of Animals," "The World Almanac," "Papers of Thomas Jefferson," "Speeches of Bourke Cochran," and New York legislative proceedings for several years.

On the walls were two American flags, pictures of Smith in a fireman's uniform, pictures of Smith with his baby grandson, pictures of Smith with Boy Scouts, framed cartoons and autographed photographs of the great.

Governor Smith talked—loudly, volubly and breezily. He laughed and joked in a big, booming voice and some of his similes fairly smoked. If he wanted to use a cuss word occasionally he did it.

Despite the care with which he guards his public speeches, Governor Smith's grammar lapses in ordinary conversation.

He used the word "ain't" at least a dozen times, and he frequently referred to "them fellows."

But Al Smith at ease and Al Smith officially are two different persons. An amateur actor in his youth, he is a good imitator and a close student. In all his public appearances he has never breached the dignity of the position he holds as governor. In that he has been very careful.

During his first term as governor he used to toss his prepared speeches to the newspaper reporters and say: "Here take the fish market language out of this stuff for me, will you?" The reporters got together and made rhetorical and grammatical improvements thereon.

By experience, contact and close observation the former East Sider has acquired polish. Today, he can use almost perfect English in his speeches—only when at ease does his conversation lapse.

Between Governor Smith and the old Dutch families that comprise the aristocracy of Albany there has been a social feud for many years. No trace in this feud ever will be reached, although more than one wealthy hostess today would relish the opportunity to entertain the governor.

When Al Smith came to the assembly from New York's East Side years ago the dowagers let it be known that neither the young assemblyman nor his wife would be welcome in their social circle.

"If Assemblyman Al Smith wasn't welcome in their homes at that time, then Governor Al Smith is not going into their homes now," he once told a friend.

With the younger generation it is different. Mrs. Emily Smith Warner, the governor's daughter, is prominent in the Junior League and the children often entertain at the Executive Mansion. But the parents keep their distance.

Governor Smith has many wealthy friends. Some of them even send their private cars to Albany for him when he wants to come to New York. But these friends were once poor like himself.

One of them was the late Alfred H. Smith, who rose from a track laborer to the presidency of the New York Central.

Another is William Todd, New York shipbuilder, who—as a shipyards laborer years ago—put some of the rivets in the "Saelmo," the magnificent private yacht that he now owns.

Another is William Kennedy, former brick mason and now one of New York's biggest contractors, having erected many of the Edison power plants.

TOMORROW: The city streets.

The Campaign Log

APRIL 17
By United Press

The Colorado Republican convention decided to send an uninstructed delegation to the Republican national convention but the majority of the delegates was said to favor the candidacy of Herbert Hoover.

Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York announced he would not attend the Democratic national convention at Houston.

The New York state Democratic committee, meeting in New York City today, is expected by resolution to place Governor Alfred E. Smith before the nation formally, as a candidate for the Democratic presidential candidacy.

Norman Thomas of New York was selected as the presidential candidate and James H. Maurer of Pennsylvania the vice-presidential candidate by the national socialist party in New York. The party also decided against inclusion of any reference to prohibition in its platform.

The Porto Rican delegation to the Democratic national convention will be uninstructed.

Mrs. Edward Appleton, Mrs. Willis Oxley and Cecil Appleton of Hopkins were Maryville visitors today.

Parnell Merchants Ask Schedule Change

Both Chicago Great Western Trains Now Arrive There Early in Afternoon.

The Missouri public service commission has been petitioned by business men of Parnell to order a new schedule for Chicago Great Western train No. 2, operating between Kansas City and the Twin cities, or to restore trains No. 25 and 26, operating between Shannon City, Ia., and St. Joseph, Mo.

Parnell, a town of 600 persons, now has but two trains daily, according to the petition, both early in the afternoon. Because of that schedule, the petition says, persons doing business in cities to the south, are forced to make an overnight trip.

The petition was signed by twenty-nine business and professional men.

High School Boys Ask for More Jobs

Members of Hi-Y Would Work for Money to Send Representatives To Camp.

"More work for high school boys is in demand," L. E. iegler, superintendent of school, said relative to odd jobs which boys of the Hi-Y Club have been seeking to do to raise money to send representatives to Camp Niangua this summer. A number have found work to do while others are still searching for something.

Mr. Ziegler stated that persons having odd jobs which the boys might do after school hours or on Saturdays should notify him or Erman Barrett, president of the Hi-Y Club.

Woodhull Attacks Passive Religion

M. E. Church Pastor Discusses Members Who Dislike Being Stirred to New Thought of Action.

Those who accept the privileges but avoid the responsibilities of membership in the Kingdom of God were the subject of comment by the Rev. W. S. Woodhull in his sermon Sunday morning at the First M. E. Church on "Church Cushions."

He pointed out how membership and the forms of worship make us comfortable.

"We like to feel we are Methodists and are quite sure that St. Peter of the Gate will be influenced by that relationship," the Reverend Mr. Woodhull said.

"You must expect to be soaked," he said in declaring that there is no substitute for financial support and personal activity.

The pastor scored the church member who "turns the whole church down, is disloyal to the pastor, unfaithful to the Lord, because there is one person he dislikes."

"Only a cheap man wants a cheap religion," the Reverend Mr. Woodhull said.

The speaker also discussed the individuals who "become so comfortable and settled in the church they dislike to be stirred up to new thinking or to different action."

"The sermons that are thought through the most carefully are apt to be the least popular," he said. "Much popular preaching is very shallow because it furnishes a kind of cushion of entertainment, of repeating things already concluded. Everybody doesn't like a sermon of the right sort.

The Reverend Mr. Woodhull compared "ourselves among ourselves." In loyalty, in generosity, in spiritual standards all members of an organization feel a pull toward the average, he said.

"Not what others would do but what, the Lord Jesus would do in your place," was pointed out as the factor which counts.

Fined for Peace Disturbance.

Asa Treese was fined $5 and costs of $6.65 in the police court of Judge Joseph H. Sayler late yesterday afternoon on a charge of disturbing the peace. He was arrested Sunday night by Police Officer Will Trullinger.

Mrs. S. W. Graves of Fairfax was in Maryville yesterday afternoon.

Red Cross Medals Sent Two Swimmers

Miss Helen Manley and Wallace Hilsabeck to Receive Highest Award for Life Saving Work.

John Price, jr., chairman of life saving and first aid of the Nodaway county chapter of the American Red Cross, today announced that honorable service medals had been received from the national Red Cross for Miss Helen Manley, a former instructor of the State Teachers College, and Wallace Hilsabeck, a former life guard at the Sanitary Swimming Pool.

The medal will be sent to Miss Manley who now is in St. Louis and the medal for Hilsabeck will be presented to him in a few days.

These are the highest awards which can be obtained by a Red Cross life saver and examiner and the medal is the only means by which their services can be recognized.

The medals are awarded for giving 200 hours of service in instruction and life saving work, and for each additional 100 hours service a service bar is added to the medal. Hilsabeck receives a medal for the 200 hours service and also is entitled to a rescue bar.

Miss Manley receives a medal and three service bars, the maximum number of service bars placed on the medals by the Red Cross.

Albert Linville of Skidmore was here yesterday.

Mrs. J. C. Brewrink of Blanchard, Ia., was a visitor in Maryville yesterday.

Away From "Boyish" Styles, Says Miller

Trend Shown Manager of Local Penney Store at Convention in Kansas City.

F. C. Miller, local manager of the J. C. Penney Company, returned last night from Kansas City where he attended the spring buying convention of the store managers and buyers of that company. The trend of style in women's apparel is turning from the slim boyishness of past seasons, Mr. Miller said. This fact was brought out by the stylist of the company at the convention in stressing the feminine, softer line among the latest frocks shown.

"The greatest benefits I derived from the convention," said Mr. Miller "were from the interchange of ideas with the other managers and the close-ups afforded me of the latest styles."

The Nodaway Valley Cattle company of this county sold two car loads of cattle on the St. Joseph market yesterday.

Charles Hinton of Pickering was here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Botkins of Skidmore were in Maryville yesterday.

Engelmann's Advance Showing of Bedding Plants for the Beautification of your Home Surroundings

A good time now to make some of your selections. We will be glad to reserve them for you and make delivery at proper time.

Cannas are one of the leading bedding plants today. Engelmann's varieties include only the very best of the dwarf and medium tall sorts noted for their better colors and foliage, larger blooms and freer blooming habits—in Red, Scarlet, Yellow, Pink, Apricot, Orange and White. We do not grow or sell varieties like the old Florence Vaughan, etc., that were popular ten to twenty years ago. Our experience in Canna growing has taught us to sell only the started growing Canna plants for latter April and May delivery because the dry canna roots lose strength so fast after March 1st it is very seldom and very hard to get a full even stand planting them during April and May. By using Engelmann's started Canna plants you have to buy only the required number of plants which are evenly started and you gain several weeks of growing time with none of the culling out of weak sickly plants later on. Engelmann's Canna plants are started to growing in our greenhouses during February and March before the bulbs lose strength. If any weak plants show up we discard them here—not the customer—as is the case where dry bulbs are planted at the customer's risk. Engelmann's up-to-date Cannas are $1.50 to $2 per dozen and like every other item we sell we guarantee them true to name and color.

We follow the same thorough cultural methods and details with all of our plants whether it is a Canna, a Geranium, a Salvia; or if you buy Engelmann's superior vegetable plants, a Tomato, a Cabbage, a Mango Pepper, etc., you will find Engelmann's varieties in the lead, right up-to-date and plants that will produce results because they have been handled right from the start. You will find Engelmann's prices very reasonable and the cheapest in the long run when results are compared.

For immediate planting we offer Gladioli bulbs, Engelmann's Cut Flower Mixture 35c per dozen, 3 dogen for $1. Engelmann's Hardy Perennials which will bloom and produce wonderful results if set out before hot weather to establish the plants, in leading varieties 75c to $1 per dozen.

CHAPTER LIII

"Society unfortunately isn't ready for your nihilistic philosophy just yet," said Markham. "And during the intervening transition human life must be protected."

He rose resolutely, and going to the telephone, called up Heath.

"Sergeant," he ordered, "get a John-Doe warrant and meet me immediately at the Stuyvesant Club. Bring a man with you—there's an arrest to be made."

"At last the law has evidence after his own heart," chirped Vance, as he lazily donned his top-coat and picked up his hat and stick. "What a grotesque affair your legal procedure is, Markham! Scientific knowledge—the facts of psychology—mean nothing to you learned Solons. But a phonograph record—ah! There, now, is something convincing, irrefragable, final, what?"

On our way out Markham beckoned to the officer on guard.

"Under no conditions," he said "is any one to enter this apartment until I return—not even with a signed permit."

When we had entered the taxicab, he directed the chauffeur to the club.

"So the newspapers want action, do they? Well, they're going to get it. . . You've helped me out of a nasty hole, old man."

As he spoke, his eyes turned to Vance. And that look conveyed a profounder gratitude than any words could have expressed.

(Tuesday, September 1; 3:30 p. m.)

It was exactly half past three when we entered the rotunda of the Stuyvesant Club. Markham at once sent for the manager, and held a few words of private conversation with him. The manager then hastened away, and was gone about five minutes.

"Mr. Spotswoode is in his rooms," he informed Markham, on returning. "I sent the electrician up to test the light bulbs. He reports that the gentleman is alone, writing at his desk."

"And the room number?"

"Three forty-one." The manager appeared perturbed. "There won't be any fuss, will there, Mr. Markham?"

"I don't look for any." Markham's tone was chilly. "However, the present matter is considerably more important than your club."

"What an exaggerated point of of view!" sighed Vance when the manager had left us. "The arrest of Spotswoode, I'd say, was the acme of futility. The man isn't a criminal, don't y' know. He what one might term a philosophic behaviorist."

Markham grunted but did not answer. He began pacing up and down agitatedly, keeping his eyes expectantly on the main entrance. Vance sought a comfortable chair, and settled himself in it with placid unconcern.

Ten minutes later Heath and Snitkin arrived. Markham at once led them into an alcove and briefly explained his reason for summoning them.

"Spotswoode's upstairs now," he said. "I want the arrest made as quietly as possible."

"Spotswoode!" Heath repeated the name in astonishment. "I don't see—"

"You don't have to see—yet," Markham cut in sharply. "I'm taking all responsibility for the arrest. And you're getting the credit—if you want it. That suit you?"

Heath shrugged his shoulders.

"Its alright with me . . . anything you say, sir." He shook his head uncomprehendingly. "But what about Jessup?"

"We'll keep him locked up. Material witness."

We ascended in the elevator and emerged at the third floor. Spotswoode's rooms were at the end of the hall, facing the Square. Markham, his face set grimly, led the way.

In answer to his knock Spotswoode opened the door and, greeted us pleasantly, stepped aside for us to enter.

"Any news yet?" he asked, moving a chair forward.

At this moment he got a clear view of Markham's face in the light, and at once he sensed the minatory nature of our visit. Though his expression did not alter, I saw his body suddenly go taut. His cold, indecipherable eyes moved slowly from Markham's face to Heath and Snitkin. Then his gaze fell on Vance and me, who were standing a little behind the others, and he nodded stiffly.

No one spoke; yet I felt that an entire tragedy was somehow being enacted, and that each actor heard and understood every word.

Markham remained standing, as if reluctant to proceed. Of all the duties of his office, I knew that the arrest of malefactors was the most distasteful to him. He was a worldly man, with the worldly man's tolerance for the misfortunes of evil. Heath and Snitkin had stepped forward and now waited with passive alertness for the district attorney's order to serve the warrant.

Spotswoode's eyes were again on Markham.

"What can I do for you, sir?" His voice was calm and without the faintest quaver.

"You can accompany these officers, Mr. Spotswoode," Markham told him quietly, with a slight inclination of his head toward the two imperturbable figures at his side. I arrest you for the murder of Margaret Odell."

"Ah!" Spotswoode's eyebrows lifted mildly. "Then you have—discovered something?"

"The Beethoven Andante."

Not a muscle of Spotswoode's face moved; but after a short pause he made a barely perceptible gesture of resignation.

"I can't say that it was wholly unexpected," he said evenly, with the tragic suggestion of a smile; "especially as you thwarted every effort of mine to secure the record. But then . . the fortunes of the game are always uncertain."

His smile faded, and his manner became grave. "You have acted generously toward me, Mr. Markham, in shielding me from the canaille; and because I appreciate that courtesy I should like you to know that the game I played was one in which I had no alternative."

"Your motive, however powerful," said Markham, "cannot extenuate your crime."

"Do you think I seek extenuation?" Spotswoode dismissed the imputation with a contemptuous gesture. "I'm not a schoolboy. I calculated the consequences of my course of action, and after weighing the various factors involved, decided to risk it.

"It was a gamble, to be sure; but it's not my habit to complain about the misfortunes of a deliberately planned risk. Furthermore, the choice was practically forced upon me. Had I not gambled in this instance, I stood to lose heavily nevertheless."

His face grew bitter.

"This woman, Mr. Markham, had demanded the impossible of me. Not content with bleeding me financially, she demanded legal protection, position, social prestige—such things as only my name could give her.

"She informed me I must divorce my wife and marry her. I wonder if you apprehend the enormity of that demand? . . . You see, Mr. Markham, I love my wife, and I have children whom I love. I will not insult your intelligence by explaining how, despite my conduct, such a thing is entirely possible. . . And yet, this woman commanded me to wreck my life and crush utterly those I held dear, solely to gratify her petty, ridiculous ambition!

"When I refused, she threatened to expose our relations to my wife, to send her copies of the letters I had written, to sue me publicly—in fine, to create such a scandal that, in any event, my life would be ruined, my family disgraced, my home destroyed."

He paused and drew a deep inspiration.

"I have never been partial to half-way measures," he continued impassively. "I have no talent for compromise. Perhaps I am a victim of my heritage. But my instinct is to play out a hand to the last chip—to force whatever danger threatens.

"And for just five minutes, a week ago, I understood how the fanatics of old could, with a calm mind and a sense of righteousness, torture their enemies who threatened them with spiritual destruction. . . I chose the only course which might save those I love from disgrace and suffering. It meant taking a desperate risk. But the blood within me was such that I did not hesitate, and I was fired by the agony of a tremendous hate. I staked my life against a living death, on the remote chance of attaining peace. And I lost."

Again he smiled faintly.

"Yes—the fortunes of the game. . . But don't think for a minute that I am complaining or seeking sympathy. I have lied to others perhaps, but not to myself. I detest a whiner—a self-excurser. I want you to understand that."

He reached to the table at his side and took up a small limp-leather volume.

"Only last night I was reading Wilde's 'De Profundis.' Had I been gifted with words, I might have made a similar confession. Let me show you what I mean so that, at least, you won't attribute to me the final infamy of cravenness."

(To Be Continued).

Cleveland, Ohio.—"I sure recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman in the condition I was in. I was so weak and run-down that I could hardly stand up. I could not eat and was full of misery. A friend living on Arcade Avenue told me about this medicine and after taking ten bottles my weakness and nervousness are all gone. I feel like living again. I am still taking it until I feel strong like before. You may use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. Elizabeth Toso, 14913 Hale Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

A Sinclair Plea Hit by Fall's Son-in-Law

Contention That $233,000 Was Paid for Interest in Ranch Is Attacked.

Washington, April 17.—Testimony striking at Harry F. Sinclair's defense in his conspiracy trial was offered at a hearing of the Senate Teapot Dome committee today.

Clarence C. Chase of El Paso, Tex., son-in-law of former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall, testified that Fall himself probably prepared a mysterious unsigned memorandum found in the committee's files several years ago.

The memorandum appeared in unexplained manner in the committee's files while the committee was investigating Fall's lease of Teapot Dome oil reserve to Sinclair and trying to learn where Fall obtained enough money to purchase his New Mexico ranch property.

Hunting Lodge Idea a "Joke."

It described as a "joke" the idea that Fall was to start a hunting lodge with Sinclair at the Three Rivers, N. M., ranch.

In subsequent oil trials, and in the one now under way, Sinclair's defense is that he gave $233,000 liberty bonds to Fall, not as a "bribe" for the lease, but to buy a one-third share in the ranch whereon such a lodge was to be built.

Fall himself has taken a similar position. Therefore committee members were surprised at Chase's testimony.

Chase said Fall was the only man who knew enough of the facts at the time to prepare such a memorandum.

Little Other Evidence.

The committee obtained little significant evidence from the two other witnesses of the day. Thomas W. Miller, convicted former alien property custodian and Mrs. John T. Pratt, widow of the late New York Republican leader, both said they knew nothing about the Continental Trading Company bonds the committee is tracing.

After these developments the committee adjourned until tomorrow.

Two hundred and twenty-one persons attended the school. The Maryville chapter was in charge of the degree work given last night. Many persons from Maryville were present at the session last night. Officers of the Maryville organization were present, of course, putting on the work.

Hogs Highest Since Last November Prices

Swine Advance 20 to 30 Cents on Kansas City Market—Cattle Lower and Lambs Strong.

Kansas City Stock Yards, April 17.—Hog prices yesterday advanced 20 to 30 cents to the highest position since last November. This advance is the largest recorded on any day this year. Compared with the low point in March, prices now are up $1.25 to $1.30. A further advance is indicated. Trade in cattle opened slowly with bids sharply lower, and later the movement over the scales was large at a 25 cent decline on fat steers, steady to 15 cents lower on butcher grades and steady on stockers and feeders. Sheep and spring lambs were steady to strong and wool lambs were 25 cents lower.

A moderate increase in cattle receipts at the principal markets caused a slow trade at lower prices. Buyers ignored the improvement quoted in the eastern beef market by holding down their purchases. However the shipping demand increased considerably. Chicago quoted fat steers off 25 to 40 cents under a dull trade. Here the market was weak to 25 cents lower, mostly 25 cents off. Good to choice Colorado steers brought $13.50 to $14.25; and native steers and yearlings sold up to $14.50. Fair to good steers brought $12 to $13.25 and common kinds down to $9. Southwest fed steers brought $11.25 to $13.75. Prices for cows and heifers were steady to 15 cents lower, mostly steady. Heifers sold at $9.50 to $12.50 and cows, $7 to $10.50; canners and cutters were steady at $5.25 to $6.75. Calves were steady to 50 cents lower. The weighty kinds outsold the light weight veals. The best brought $13 to $13.75.

Demand for stockers and feeders remained active regardless of the weak tone in fat cattle. Inquiry for steers suitable for summer grazing is broad and will continue so. Some 380 pound stock calves sold at $13.75, making a top for the entire calf market.

An advance of 20 to 30 cents on hogs not only took the market into the highest position since last November, but the days gain was the largest advance on any one day in fully five months. The rise took the market into the 9 cent field or $1.25 to $1.30 above the low point this year. Urgent demand was in evidence. The 165 to 250 pound hogs brought $9 to $9.20; 250-325 pounds, $8.75 to $9; 140 to 165 pounds, $8.50 to $9.10; packing sows, $7.25 to $8.25; and stock hogs and pigs, $7 to $7.75.

Arizona and California spring lambs at $17.75 to $18.40 made up a strong spot in the sheep market. Winter fed lambs were 15 to 25 cents lower at $16.-50 to $16.75 for wool grades and $14 to $14.50 for shorn classes.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, April 17.—The long expected slump in a sensationally strong market struck wheat futures on the board of trade today and sent all wheat prices into a spectacular dive of 2 1-8 to 7-8 cent. A bearish Canadian report on stocks of wheat there caused a final rush of selling by traders which netted most of the losses.

Corn was consistently strong and advanced fractionally closing 1-8 to ½ cent higher. Oats were strong most of the day but broke when wheat declined and finished ½ to ⅝ cent lower. Provisions closed sharply lower.

Wheat slumped sharply at the opening on a sudden decline at Liverpool, after that market had opened apparently strong and active. Shortly after the opening there was a fair rally that regained many of the losses. Trading then quieted down and was inclined to dullness, the rest of the day. Weather news was little changed, the Southwest still needing moisture. Export business was quiet. Receipts here were 11 cars and the cash market held unchanged.

Corn eased early in the day with wheat but soon recovered and climbed steady. Excepting continued unfavorable belt weather and small receipts of 119 cars, there was no news to prompt the bulge. Some selling of wheat and buying of corn was in evidence as activity shifted to the corn pit. Cash corn was steady.

Oats took new life from recent bullish developments and the undertone was strong. Serious damage to the new crop by freezing weather has been reported, stocks are diminishing rapidly and cash demand is good. Receipts were 42 cars and the cash market advanced ½c.

28 SCHOOLS ADD ENTRIES

609 MORE STUDENTS LISTED FOR CONTESTS HERE.

OTHERS STILL ON WAY

Letters Bearing Postmark of Yesterday to Be Accepted.—St. Joseph Schools Not Yet In.

Entry lists of students who will compete in the Nineteenth Annual Northwest Missouri high school contests and field meet April 26-28 at the State Teachers College, swamped the office of M. E. Selecman, manager of the contests, this morning.

The over night and morning mail brought in names from twenty-eight more schools in Northwest Missouri, and only an unofficial check of the number listed in today's mail could be made.

According to a hurried glance over the enrollment blanks, 609 more students have been entered as participants in the contests. Two hundred and seventy-one were reported received at noon yesterday and forty-six entries came in Saturday, boosting the total to 926. The entry lists must bear the postmark of April 16.

Mr. Selecman said he could not say definitely whether 926 was the total at noon today, as some entries might have been received after Saturday's and Monday's announcements were made but not included later. It gives a fair indication that the total number of students who will take part in this year's contests will be about the same as last year, when some 1,500 students from over the district were enrolled.

Maryville Entry Largest.

The entries of Maryville high school were received today, which swelled the number of students by 165, the largest number of entries from any one school to be received to date.

Mound City has sent in the second highest number, listing eighty-six students. These entries do not include the teachers who will accompany the contestants, Mr. Selecman said.

Today's entries by schools:

Skidmore, 11; Mound City, 86; Rosendale, 4; Maryville, 165; Maitland, 32; Coffey, 12; King City, 20; New Hampton, 22; Trenton, 28; Ridgeway, 37; Hopkins, 4; Blythedale, 2; Fillmore, 19; Sheridan, 1; Chillicothe, 39; Clearmont, 10; Bolckow, 12; Mount Moriah, 10; Faucett, 5; Lathrop, 7; Sheridan, 20; Bellevue consolidated, 4; Quitman, 1; Albany, 14; Guilford, 2; Barnard, 19; Graham, 22; and Winston, 1.

St. Joseph Entries Delayed.

The coaches of St. Joseph high schools held a meeting last night to decide on their contest entries, and they were given permission to wait until then before dispatching their lists. A number of other entries, mailed late yesterday, are not expected here until tomorrow.

The Chamber of Commerce has rooms listed which will accommodate 1220 out-of-town contestants, Miss Catherine Tobin, secretary, said. This probably will take care of all the demands and after today it will not be necessary to solicit rooms.

Strong Wins Second in National Contest

Maryville Youth Represents Des Moines "Y" in Fancy Diving at Meet In Chicago.

Competing against the best in the United States, Maurice ("Buster") Strong of Maryville took second in the fancy diving contest last Friday and Saturday in the National Y. M. C. A. swimming meet at Chicago.

Strong, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Strong of Maryville is attending Drake University at Des Moines, Ia., and was one of five swimmers and divers representing the Des Moines Y. M. C. A. at the Chicago contests. He telephoned to his parents last night from Des Moines, stating the team made the trip to Chicago and back by automobile, and on the return trip it took them eighteen hours because of automobile trouble.

The five-man relay team of the Des Moines Y. M. C. A., of which Strong was a member, took third place in the 160-yard relay. Strong informed his parents last night.

The boy who took first place in the fancy diving contest was from the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A.

PAYROLL OF BATTERY C IS HIGHEST EVER

$1,032.41 Quarterly Funds Distributed Last Night to Local Members of National Guard.

Regular drill attendance at Battery C weekly drill practices has increased the quarterly payroll to the highest mark in the history of the National Guard unit of the 128th Field Artillery here, Capt. E. V. Condon announced today.

Last night the quarterly payroll was distributed, and it amounted to $1,032.41. This is the largest payroll received in the regiment. The average attendance last quarter was fifty-four. Captain Condon said there are places in the Battery for four more men.

The Battery has been invited to participate in the Pageant of Progress parade May 22 at the opening of the baseball season at Tarkio. The Tarkio Chamber of Commerce has extended the invitation to the Battery. The Maryville Chamber of Commerce also has been invited to have a representation at the opening of the baseball season at Tarkio.

Captain Condon said that he would seek the permission of the adjutant-general of the regiment to take part in the pageant, and the Tarkio Chamber of Commerce also will take the matter up with the adjutant-general.

Since the pageant is to be in the form of a parade, the invitation to the Maryville Chamber of Commerce suggested a band from Maryville would fit in very nicely.

The feature of the afternoon entertainment will be the baseball game. The Tarkio Baseball Club, the letter stated, would be pleased to have the Maryville organization as guests at this game. A free dinner may be arranged for the band, if one is sent.

Tunney-Heeney Fight Probably Be July 26

Yankee Stadium Is Place for Heavyweight Championship Bout Rickard Announces.

New York, April 17.—The Tunney-Heeney fight for the heavyweight championship will be held in New York, Tex Rickard, promoter, said today on his return from a vacation in Miami Beach, Fla.

Rickard refused to name the date of the bout, but is likely that it will be held July 26 at the Yankee Stadium. The fact that the next boxing commission assigned Thursday as the day for Rickard's summer bouts today gave rise to the report.

SAFETY ON THE FARM

Cow, Sow and Hen

"Have Something to Sell All the Time Idea" Brings Profit

Survey of different states shows more prosperity where diversification rules

It is difficult to find a farmer who is never materially in debt and who always makes money, although there are such individuals.

And they are invariably those who conduct their farms on a cow, sow and hen basis; who always have milk, cream, butter and eggs for their own tables, and who always have them to sell. These farmers, too, have their wheat crops and their corn crops, but they are not dependent on them for a living and, by virtue of their livestock and dairying interests, they can sell their money crops when they will bring the highest prices.

No wonder such farmers always make money, their families live comfortably, and they are looked up to in the community.

The past five years have, for the most part, been lean ones. Now the situation gives promise of changing. When conditions are more promising than they have been in four or five years, is the ideal time for farmers to diversify, to keep cows, sows and hens so as to build up their prosperity on a permanent basis. The only way yet found for farmers always to have money is for them to keep their specialty crops as their main source of income, but always to raise enough for their own table and a surplus to sell, so that if one crop fails they will not feel the pinch. Whereas, if their principal crops succeed, all the more money will be coming in.

We do not recommend or consider it advisable for all farmers to follow these suggestions. Such a policy probably would not be practical for the individual who is managing a large tract of land and engaged in the feeding of cattle and hogs as a regular business, but generally speaking we regard this as a constructive proposition of considerable merit.
